

ICOR-Resolution:

Down with the military coup in Sudan

On October 25, 2021, the reactionary military junta in Sudan carried out a military coup. It dissolved the Sovereign Council and the government, imposed a state of emergency. The military imprisoned Prime Minister Abdullah Hamdok and several ministers and civilian political leaders. These individuals had led the government in collaboration with the military since the December 2018 popular revolution. The revolution had ended the rule of the Muslim Brotherhood led by Omar al-Bashir, who had impoverished his people, sold off their resources, and brought wars, disease, and epidemics to the country. This change of government, however, had not fundamentally altered the relations of power.

In the face of the military coup, the courageous Sudanese people are showing an extraordinary fighting spirit. Led by revolutionaries, they have taken to the streets, calling for civil disobedience and a general sit-in. The military met the popular uprising with fire and repression, killing more than 35 people.

Therefore, ICOR declares that it ...

1. ... condemns the military coup of the military junta. The latter forms a reactionary puppet government. The latter, moreover, has intensified its relations with the reactionary, Zionist Israel. ICOR sees the aim of the coup in returning to the state of dictatorship, tyranny and injustice against which the Sudanese people had previously risen.
2. ... resolutely supports the uprising of the Sudanese people with its women and men and with all its activists, especially the workers and poor peasants. ICOR supports the uprising led by the Sudanese Communist Party, the trade union center and all revolutionary and progressive national forces. It strongly welcomes the call for civil disobedience and sit-in strikes to end the coup and overthrow the regime.
3. ... believes that despite the overthrow of the head of the puppet regime, Omar al-Bashir, and the Muslim Brotherhood looting the wealth of Sudan, the revolution has not completed its tasks and the puppet regime has remained in place. It has worked with ceasefire and maneuvers until it regained its breath.
4. ... it reminds of the events in Sudan to be considered as an important lesson for the communists and revolutionaries. This lesson is that during revolutionary struggles we must never relax our attention. Whatever their form and tactics, whether advance or retreat, we must remain steadfast until we ultimately achieve the strategic goal of overthrowing the pro-imperialist reactionary regimes and establishing the rule of the workers and poor peasants and the socialist transition to a new society.
5. ... calls on all communist parties, all forces for national and social liberation and revolutionary forces in Africa, the Arab world and the whole world to reject and condemn this coup d'état. ICOR calls to support the popular uprising in its various manifestations and to organize campaigns of popular support with all available means.

Down with the military coup!

Glory to the martyrs!

Victory for the workers and the oppressed masses in Sudan!
